

Just what type of funkbunker are you?

Do you need a second office or a first one? A change of scene or a new scene altogether? If you want a space to break out of the home office (or the regular office) for a few hours every now and then, or if you want a more permanent base to build you business from, we have a package to suit you. We even cater for those who can't quite make up their minds yet.

Simply choose one of the four options that best suits your needs from the selection below, pay for it and turn up. Bingo! You have just joined the best work hub in the area. What could be simpler?
